The 20th edition of the Sears List features expanded coverage for developing topics, as well as updated headings in some areas.

New headings in this edition reflect the growing literature in areas such as ecology and the environment, including:

- Climate change
- Sustainable agriculture

Headings have also been established for the different types of dinosaur, including:

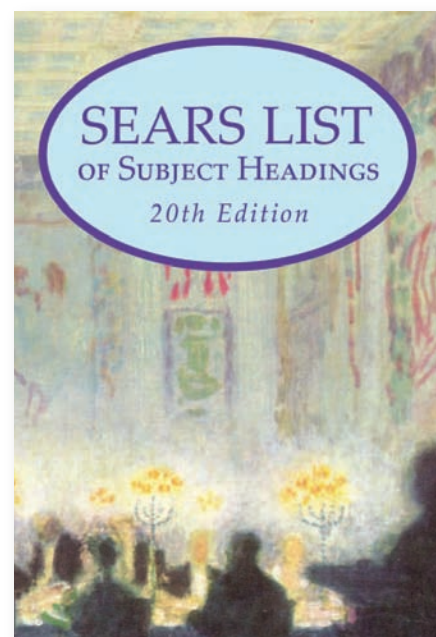

- Raptorex

- Indians has been re-established to denote the people of India. A number of headings for the literature and culture of India—such as Indian music and Indian literature—have been reconciled with this change, and new chronological subdivisions have been established for the history of India.

Pilatus and Morvan had been hired by producer Frank Fabian to impersonate the actual singers, who were talented but insufficiently attractive.

The first fistfight in the Senate took place on February 28, 1902, between two South Carolina senators, Benjamin Tillman and John McLaurin.
